Prof Aparna Negi, Professor, Department of Economics, Himachal Pradesh University, Shimla delivered the lecture. Prof Negi urged the students to ask more and more questions about the subject being taught so that basic understanding of the relevant subject can developed in more comprehensive manner. She emphasized that students should inculcate the spirit of curiosity among themselves then only they can fully grasp the knowledge.

2. Webinar on Need of Sustainable Self Reliance: Department of Economics, Central University of Himachal Pradesh, Dharamshala in continuation to CUHP Foundation week celebrations organised a webinar सुसह्यता के लिए आत्मनिर्भरता: आर्थिक, सामाजिक, राजनीतिक और पर्यावरणीय पहलुओं पर | on 31st January 2022. The chief guest for the occasion was Professor Arun Diwaker Nath Bajpai, VC, Atal Bihari Vajpayee University, Bilaspur, Chhattisgarh. The webinar was presided by VC of CUHP, Prof S P Bansal. Prof S P Bansal in his inaugural address laid emphasis on the five pillars or strengths i.e. Economy, Infrastructure, System, Democracy and Demand for achieving the goal of self-reliance. He highlighted the COVID crises has not only forced India but the world to think about and become self-reliant. Prof Bajpai in his presidential address explained that Indian economy embarked upon the philosophy of self-reliance way back in 1960's. He underlined that the current COVID crisis had given us the opportunity for self-introspection and to think about the fellow country which are at the bottom of pyramid. These people are unskilled, illiterate and the worst hit victim of the COVID and its after math i.e., lockdown. These all events in combination had jeopardise the livelihood of millions of Indian. He called for removal of inequalities which are ubiquitous in Indian economy and have exacerbated in recent times. Prof Bajpai gave the myntra of sustainability of self-reliance. For achieving the objective of sustainability in self reliance he suggested measures like increasing domestic savings, revival of agriculture, emphasis on organic farming, skill development, and fostering the sense entrepreneurship. Dr Suman Sharma, Head, Department of Economics, lauded the work done by Prof S P Bansal and Prof A D N Bajpai and thanked everyone. The vote of thank was presented by Dr Kamal Singh. On this occasion, Prof Narayan Singh Rao, Dean, School of Social Sciences, Prof Pardeep Kumar , DSW, Dr Amit Kumar Basantaray and Dr Vinod Kumar from department of Economics were also present along with many scholars and students of economics department.
